

SLEEP MEDICINE

HARVARD MEDICAL SCHOOL

Endowed Professorships

Gerald E. McGinnis Professorship of Sleep Medicine Harvard Medical School Brigham and Women's Hospital

The new incumbent of the Gerald E. McGinnis Professorship of Sleep Medicine is expected to possess international stature as a leader in clinical research, including population-based studies, in the fields of sleep or circadian science, or sleep medicine, as evidenced by a distinguished record of original/research achievement, scholarly accomplishments, election to scholarly societies, leadership positions in related societies, service as editor or on the editorial boards of respected journals, and participation on committees and review boards. He or she should also have the ability to direct competitive basic or clinical research programs in sleep science or sleep medicine. The Gerald E. McGinnis Professor of Sleep Medicine will also participate in the teaching activities of the Division of Sleep Medicine in the Department of Medicine at Brigham and Women's Hospital and Harvard Medical School. These activities will include providing and supervising the teaching of basic and clinical circadian and sleep disorders medicine for undergraduates, medical students, graduate students, postdoctoral fellows, house staff and post-graduate physicians rotating through the Sleep Medicine Division. He or she will also instruct research and clinical fellows in the Division of Sleep Medicine at Brigham and Women's Hospital and have opportunities to collaborate with other Harvard Faculty members.

Interested candidates should send a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, and contact information for three references in hard copy and electronic format to:

Charles A. Czeisler, Ph.D., M.D.
Chair, McGinnis Professor Search Committee
Division of Sleep Medicine, Harvard Medical School
221 Longwood Avenue, Suite 438, Boston, MA 02115
E-mail: McGinnis_Search@hms.harvard.edu

Peter C. Farrell Professorship of Sleep Medicine Harvard Medical School Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center Brigham and Women's Hospital

The first incumbent of the Peter C. Farrell Professorship of Sleep Medicine should be a distinguished physician-scientist with a strong academic background and an outstanding clinical research program on the impact of the treatment of sleep-disordered breathing/sleep apnea on associated cardiovascular diseases such as hypertension, coronary artery disease, diastolic dysfunction, congestive heart failure and stroke. Candidates should be board certified in Cardiology or Pulmonary Medicine, or in Neurology and in Sleep Medicine. In addition, candidates should be internationally recognized leaders in research and have extensive experience in patient-oriented research in these areas, as demonstrated by peer-reviewed publications, grant funding and receipt of honors by professional societies. The Peter C. Farrell Professor in the Division of Sleep Medicine at the Harvard Medical School will be equally based in the departments of medicine at the Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center and the Brigham and Women's Hospital and will also participate in teaching activities at these institutions and the Harvard Medical School.

Interested candidates should send a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, and contact information for three references in hard copy and electronic format to:

Charles A. Czeisler, Ph.D., M.D.
Chair, Farrell Professor Search Committee
Division of Sleep Medicine, Harvard Medical School
221 Longwood Avenue, Suite 438, Boston, MA 02115
E-mail: Farrell_Search@hms.harvard.edu

If you need additional information about either professorship please contact:
Lorna Preston at 617-732-5924.

Harvard Medical School, Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center and Brigham and Women's Hospital are Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employers. We strongly encourage applications from women and minority candidates.

Publication:	NEJM
Run Date:	March 22, Issue
Section:	Help Wanted
Size:	1/2 page vertical
Price	$4275.00
Ad #	#78500

Harger Howe & Walsh

© 2005 HARGER HOWE & ASSOCIATES, LTD.
Artwork, designs, copywriting, production and creative materials created by Harger Howe & Associates are the property of Harger Howe & Associates and are not to be used, displayed, reproduced, recreated or republished without our expressed written consent. We retain all rights under applicable copyright laws to all materials.

This price includes web posting for 21 days

Harvard Medical School, Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center and Brigham and Women's Hospital are Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employers. We strongly encourage applications from women and minority candidates.