

The Department of Dermatology at Massachusetts General Hospital announces the availability of a full-time faculty position. We currently seek to recruit a board certified and/or board eligible dermatologist, eligible for a full Massachusetts medical license. Candidates should possess an interest in basic science related to skin biology. The faculty member would participate in patient care, teaching, and research, with approximately 80% of time dedicated to laboratory research. Harvard Medical School appointment at the rank of Instructor or Assistant Professor will be sought, commensurate on experience. Underrepresented minorities and women who may be qualified for this position are encouraged to apply.

Interested candidates should send a letter of interest and curriculum vitae by September 15, 2008 to:
