Master Trainer – Prevention of Depression Program

The Department of Psychiatry at Children's Hospital Boston and Harvard Medical School is seeking an experienced mental health professional (PhD or equivalent) for an appointment at the Instructor or Assistant Professor level for a five-year fully funded project on the dissemination of family based strategies for parental depression and related conditions. The position will involve training others in family based strategies both in this country and abroad, assisting in the evaluation of dissemination strategies, and in the preparation of articles, book chapters and grants. Experience with evidence based treatments and preventions for mood disorders and with culturally competent community interventions is desirable. The offer will include the full benefits package of Children's Hospital Boston. Letters of application and a curriculum vita should be sent to the attention of William R. Beardslee, MD, Academic Chairman, Department of Psychiatry, Children's Hospital Boston, One Autumn Street, Boston, MA 02215 (william.beardslee@childrens.harvard.edu). Harvard Medical School and Children's Hospital Boston are Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employers. Women and minorities are particularly encouraged to apply.
